The natural lava stone ensures no two pendants are alike, with unique graining and texture that add character and individuality to every piece.

Ideal for island benches, bedside installations, or as a dramatic cluster in a void space, the Traviato's bold, dark aesthetic adds depth and warmth to contemporary interiors. Its modern earthenware style makes it a standout feature in any setting. For a softer look, it's also available in travertine with bronze details, offering versatility to suit a variety of spaces.
